

Can you really cancel FuboTV before the free trial ends? {Cancel FuboTV During the Free Trial}

Yes—you really can cancel FuboTV before the free trial ends, {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) and doing so correctly ensures you won't be charged. However, many users still end up paying unintentionally because they miss key steps or misunderstand how the trial works. {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) This guide explains exactly how the FuboTV free trial functions, how to cancel safely, and what to watch out for so you don't see an unexpected charge on your statement.

How the FuboTV Free Trial Works

When you sign up for FuboTV, you're asked to enter valid payment {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) details even though the trial is free. This is standard practice among streaming services. The trial typically lasts several days, {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) during which you get full access to live TV channels, sports, cloud DVR, and on-demand content. If you do nothing, FuboTV automatically converts your trial into a paid {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) subscription at the end of the trial period.

That's why timing matters. To avoid charges, you must cancel before the trial {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) expiration date and complete the process fully.

How to Cancel FuboTV During the Free Trial

To cancel, sign in to your FuboTV {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) account using a web browser (the website offers the most reliable access to account controls). Go to Account Settings, select Subscription, and choose Cancel Subscription. Call at {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) Follow every on-screen prompt until you receive confirmation that your subscription is canceled.

After canceling, your account status should reflect that cancellation, {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) and you should receive a confirmation email. Even if you cancel early, FuboTV usually allows you to keep watching {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) until the trial period officially ends.

Common Reasons People Get Charged Anyway

Despite canceling, some users still report charges. This usually happens because:

- The cancellation wasn't fully completed

- The user subscribed {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) through a third party (Apple, Google Play, Amazon) and canceled in the wrong place
- The cancellation was done after the trial expiration time
- The user assumed uninstalling the app {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) would cancel the trial

To stay safe, always double-check your subscription status and keep confirmation emails.

What If You Subscribed Through a Third Party?

If you signed up through Apple, Google Play, Roku, or Amazon, {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) you must cancel the trial through that platform, not through FuboTV's website. Each provider has its own subscription management page, and failing to cancel there will result in charges {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) even if you cancel on FuboTV itself.

Is Canceling Early a Good Idea?

Canceling early is actually smart. You can cancel on day one and still enjoy the full trial without worrying {1 – 844 – [533] – 2694} (US) about forgetting later. This approach is especially helpful if you're testing multiple streaming services or don't plan to keep FuboTV long term.
